Some Things Democrats Have Done For Missouri Schools.

1. Increased Missouri schools and seminary trust funds from $2,678,800 in 1872, to $4,407,867.26 in 1908. The permanent county school funds now amount to $5,096,989.82; the permanent township and special district funds amount to $4,509,501.47; total permanent school funds of the state, $14,014,355.45.

5. Established and developed five Normal Schools, Lincoln Institute and the Teachers College of the State University for the education and training of teachers. In facilities and equipment these schools equal to the best schools of the kind in the United States.

3. Encouraged the development of rural, village, town and city high schools to bring secondary education within easy reach of the girls and boys who live in the country, and encourage them to attend college. There are now more than 400 high schools in Missouri, nearly 300 doing standard high school work, against less than one-tenth this number thirty years ago.

4. More than twenty years ago the State, under Democratic rule, established a school for the blind in the City of St. Louis. This school has been supported handsomely all these years, but within the past eight years a handsome, modern home, one of the best in the land, has been provided.

The population of Monett as shown by the recent census taken by Postmaster Chapell and his assistants is 5,557. This includes a part of Forest Park, possibly between 200 and 300 persons. The enumeration is accurate and shows exactly the population of the town and was made to be used in the establishment of the free mail delivery which will be inaugurated in the next few months.

The Strawberry Business.

The strawberry market was active at $1.65 Friday, but would not stand an advance owing to the heavy receipts. The prospect is for better values in the near future if the quality of the goods holds up.

The movement for the day was 44 cars for Arkansas and Missouri. The Ozark Association handled 28 cars. Arkansas sent out two cars.

In Missouri Anderson shipped 3; Marionville 2; Neosho 8; Aroma 2; Sarcoxie 9; Republic 1; Logan 5; Peirce City 3; Monett 3; Seneca, Purdy, Belfast, Butterfield, Billings and Verona, one car each.

The receipts of strawberries Saturday were about equal to the demand however there could have been handled six or eight more cars to good advantage. We look for receipts to go off very rapidly after Monday and the outlook is for stronger prices. This week will practically end the season.

The total number of cars Saturday was forty of which the Ozark Association handled twenty-four. Monett shipped three.

Sunday there was little doing either in shipments or markets. There were only thirteen cars and of these the Ozark Association handled eight. The price Sunday was $1.85 and on Saturday $1.65 and $1.75.

The strawberry market was not over active Monday, in fact there was rather a dull tone prevailing. The sellers tried hard to get back to even money but could not land it, so had to be content with $1.85. The total number of cars from the district was forty-two of which the Ozark Association shipped twenty-six. Monett shipped two cars. Leroy Jeffries and John Walsh also shipped a large amount by local express.

Up to yesterday morning there had been 76 cars of berries shipped out of Neosho and 5,151 crates by local express. Thursday was one of the biggest days of the season so far, 10 cars being shipped out, six by the Neosho association and four by the Southwest Missouri association. The price has fallen off considerably, berries selling on track here Thursday at $1.65 per crate. The berries are still of fine quality and the prospects are that picking will continue all next week. It is evident that the estimate of 75 to 80 cars made by growers a week or so ago was entirely too small, and the prospects now are the shipments from this point will reach 125 to 130 cars, considerably larger than last year.—Miner and Mechanic.
